Handwritten text in a script, likely Telugu, arranged in approximately 10 horizontal lines across the page. The text is written in dark ink on aged, slightly discolored paper. The script is cursive and dense, with some characters appearing to be in a different script or dialect. The lines are roughly parallel, with some variations in spacing and alignment. The overall appearance is that of a historical document or a manuscript page.

Handwritten text in a South Indian script, likely Grantha or Tamil, on a palm leaf manuscript. The text is arranged in approximately 10 horizontal lines. The left edge of the leaf is severely damaged and torn, obscuring the beginning of the first four lines. The script is finely inscribed and appears to be a form of classical South Indian literature or religious text. The leaf is aged and shows some staining and wear.

Handwritten text in a script, likely Devanagari, on a piece of aged, yellowed paper. The text is arranged in approximately 10 horizontal lines. The left edge of the paper is heavily torn and ragged. The ink is dark and somewhat faded, especially in the later lines. The paper shows signs of age, including discoloration and small dark spots.
